

16.7.3

Connect pgAdmin to Your RDS Instance

Now that you are all set up on AWS, it's time to actually connect. Luckily, you already have experience using pgAdmin for your SQL queries, so you can simply connect pgAdmin to the RDS instance you just created.

The Postgres database you just created is hosted on the cloud, so it can be accessed by anyone with credentials using whatever platform you prefer. Since we have experience with pgAdmin, we'll connect that.
